Civil Action Against Lewis Is Postponed Indefinitely

WASHINGTON, April 23—Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough today indefinitely suspended punishment of John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers on the coal strike civil contempt conviction.

The court accepted the government's recommendation on the matter after being informed that the mine walkout has ended.

Assistant Attorney General H. Graham Morison stated that more than 85 percent of the 400,000 soft coal miners have returned to their jobs.

The government attorney said "no useful purpose" would be served by action now on the civil contempt conviction.

Welly K. Hopkins, chief defense counsel, said he had no objection to the indefinite postponement of disposition of the civil contempt issue.

Steel Price Cuts Eyed

Solons Not Sure
Move Is Sincere

WASHINGTON, April 23—The steel industry's $25 million price cut brought mixed reaction today from congressional leaders involved in anti-inflation fights.

Two Democrats expressed suspicion of the industry's action.

Sen. O'Mahoney, (D) Wyo., ranking minority senator on the joint congressional economic committee said "I suspect that this is just a move in the battle over wages."

Senate Minority Leader Barkley, (D) Ky., said: "All of us welcome a bonafide steel price reduction. But the question is whether this decrease is bonafide or is a maneuver to offset the request for a wage increase."

The price cut came as the economic committee neared completion of a report which is expected to touch on the $5-a-ton advance made in certain types of steel last February. The report is expected to be released next week.

SEN. WHEERY, (R) Neb., chairman of the Senate small business committee, and Sen. Capehart, (R) Ind., committee member and a steel-using industrialist himself, were encouraged by the announcement.

Wheery, whose committee has been probing the grey market in steel, said: "That's good news. It does two things—it puts steel in a price line where a manufacturer can produce and sell his goods, and it should improve the allocation of steel to small users."

Prices Cut

PITTSBURGH, April 23—Westinghouse Electric Corp. today cut prices five percent on a "wide range" of electrical control apparatus for distribution of electric power.

Kiernan's ONE MAN'S OPINION

A new half dollar will be out soon and the Treasury says "there will be enough for everyone." This is the best news since the Townsend Plan.

In fact it will be the first time since the United States started manufacturing money that there ever was "enough for everyone."

Apparently the government has found that a half dollar here, a half dollar there has paid off in Europe and has decided to include it in its reflation program.

This coin has Ben Franklin on one side representing "thrift." I understand there's a Treasury agent on the other side representing "what's the use, we get it anyway!"

But if the Treasury will just tell us now where to pick up the stuff we'll hire our own carts.

THIS IS NO TIME for monkey business in the St. Louis Zoo. There's Spring cleaning to be done and these famous pet chimpanzees are mopping up. Under the direction of their pal and trainer, Zoo Director George Vierheller, Ma Chimp has donned an apron and is scrubbing the cage floor. One of the youngsters is giving the dining table a good washing, while Pop Nero seems to be taking time out for a smoke.

Minor Uprisings Quelled As Reds Prowl In Italy

ROME, April 23—Communist-inspired post-election violence flared today in a number of Italian towns after police crushed an embryo revolt in the hills near Rome.

Principal violence occurred in Southern towns.

At Lusciano, near Naples, Communist groups attempted to storm the town hall and to desecrate a church. The Communists were halted by the arrival of strong police and carabinieri units who were forced to use arms. One Communist was wounded seriously.

At Trepuzzi, in Lecce province, Communists objected to the hoisting of the Italian tricolor. Their action precipitated a free-for-all in which two Christian Democrats were injured.

At Rodi, a Christian Democratic woman was severely beaten.

Second Guard Dies Of Wounds

COLUMBUS, April 23—The second of three guards stabbed by a crazed convict in Ohio penitentiary Monday night was dead today.

Guard Samuel P. Chesshir, 54, died in the institution hospital. Walter W. Zimmer, 68, another guard, was killed almost instantly that night and a third, Frank C. Lower, 38, still is in serious condition.

Acting Warden Ralph Alvis reported John Thomas, the 34-year-old Dayton convict, broke out of the "strong ward" of the hospital while a guard was busy, grabbed a knife from the adjoining kitchen, and ran a m.o.k. stabbing the three in his 15 minutes of berserk freedom.

'Get Tough' Threat Made

Panel Wants Note
On A-Scientist

WASHINGTON, April 23—Rep. Thomas, (R) N. J., threatened today to "get tough" about the administration's refusal to disclose a confidential FBI letter on the loyalty of Atomic Scientist Edward U. Condon.

Thomas, chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, set Saturday as a "reasonable" deadline for a response from the Commerce department to a House resolution calling for the letter written by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover "forthwith."

The congressman's "threat" was made after President Truman indicated clearly to his news conference that he will refuse to budge from his position that loyalty information must be kept secret.

Commenting on the House resolution, Mr. Truman quoted Andrew Jackson as having said of a supreme court decision: "The chief justice has made his decision; now let him enforce it."

Thomas retorted:

"IN MY OPINION times have changed since Jackson's Day, and if President Truman is still living in those times he should wake up."

The resolution, adopted by a vote of 300 to 29 in the House, is an expression of opinion without the force of law, but Thomas said he will resort to "drastic measures" to support it.

The letter was cited in part in the subcommittee report to show activities and associations of Dr. Condon who was accused of being acquainted with a Soviet agent.

It was charged that a portion of the letter not quoted in the report cleared the atomic scientist of any disloyalty.

Pan-Am Nations Set To Pledge Anti-Red Drive

BOGOTA, April 23—The 21 republics of the Western Hemisphere pledge themselves today to combat Communism.

A resolution to this end was adopted unanimously by the 21-nation steering committee of the Inter-American conference.

Moscow's reaction to the agreement calling for stern counter-measures to activities of the Cominform was awaited anxiously.

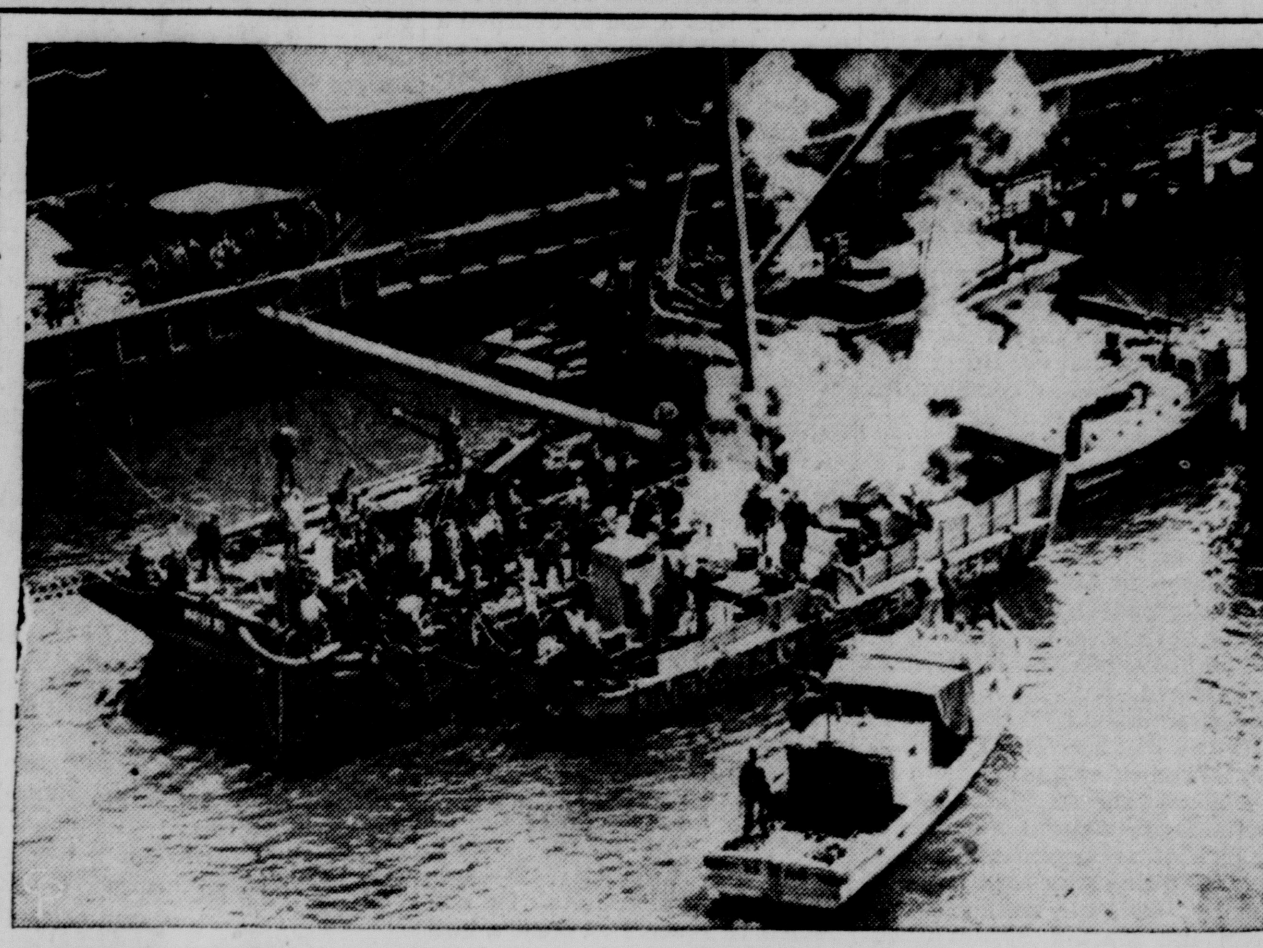

Under the resolution the American republics are pledged to stamp out Communist campaigns led and managed by foreign agents from the Soviet Union and her satellites.

French Miners Back In Pits

PARIS, April 23—Officials said that the majority of the 130,000 coal miners who went out on strike yesterday in Northern France returned to work today.

The strike was a protest demonstration on behalf of demands for pay increases and other benefits following an explosion in the Sallaumines pit.

IN THE CHANNEL between Staten Island and New Jersey, rescue workers rush efforts to reach Edward Christiansen, a commercial diver of Oyster Bay, L. I., who was trapped 30 feet below the surface for almost three hours when tons of mud collapsed on him. Still alive, Christiansen was rescued by 5 other divers who blasted mud off him with high-pressure hoses.

You 60 Or 70? That's Not Old

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23—Are you in your 60s or even 70s or approaching those age brackets? Well, don't get the notion that you're old.

Take the word of no less an authority than Dr. Edward L. Bortz, president of the American Medical Association.

It is high time, said Dr. Bortz, to stop putting "young men in their 60s" on the shelf. He said:

"A man is at his best in his 50s. If you retire him at 62, you're cutting him down in the full flower of his productive period."

Commie Is Held In Shotgunning Of Union Chief

DETROIT, April 23—Detroit police held a Communist union official today in their investigation of the attempted murder of Walter P. Reuther, red-purging chief of the CIO United Auto Workers.

The official, Nelson Davis, 52, allegedly declared that he knew who fired the shotgun blast that seriously injured Reuther Tuesday night.

Wayne County Prosecutor James McNally said he had received "very valuable information" from a fellow-worker of Davis at the Ford Motor Co.

Davis, who holds an office in UAW Ford Local 600, was one of four Left Wing leaders of that local picked up by police in their man hunt for the enemies of the militant union leader.

THE OTHER three were released after giving statements to the prosecutor.

McNally said that Davis admitted being a member of the party. He said the arrest had been made after a fellow-worker disclosed that Davis bragged he knew the identity of Reuther's assailant.

The tip was one of some 40 that have been investigated by the special police squads assigned to the case, stimulated by reward offers totalling $118,900.

Tighter Food Picture Seen

WASHINGTON, April 23—Dennis A. Fitzgerald, food director for the foreign aid program, predicts today that the food situation in Europe from now until June "is going to be tight but not impossible."

Fitzgerald, newly named Economic Cooperation Administration food chief, said that on the basis of current information he thinks there will be no "sharp cuts in bread rations" during the period.

However, the food authority expressed what he called "cautious optimism" about the world's wheat production during the crop year beginning in June. He added that the supply of fats and oils probably will not get any better than it is at the present time.

Housing Plan Said Assured

7.5 Million Units
Would Be Built

WASHINGTON, April 23—A key GOP leader today predicted congressional passage of a long-range housing bill in the wake of Senate approval of the Taft-Elender-Wagner measure.

Stiff opposition is anticipated, however, to Senate provisions providing federal aid for public housing and slum clearance with a distinct possibility that they may be eliminated by the House.

Rep. Wolcott, (R) Mich., chairman of the House banking and currency committee, said his group will open hearings May 3 on the vast housing program approved by the Senate Thursday. Senate passage came by voice vote after a week's consideration.

Wolcott stated that the committee is "going to take a look" at the housing legislation.

THE BILL provides more than $5 billion in incentives for private and public housing in an effort to spur the production of 7.5 million units during the next five years.

The bill provides for the construction of 500,000 public housing units in five years. Taft estimated that the cost to the government would be $160 million annually for 40 years, beginning with the end of the five-year period.

The Senate measure also contains:

An authorization of $268 million for long-term loans and small outright grants for a four-year farm building program, including up to $2,000 for improvement of inadequate homes.

Chiang Opponent Leading Ballot

NANKING, April 23—Gen. Li Tsung-Jen, liberal candidate opposed by President Chiang Kai-shek's dominant faction, took the lead today in the opening ballot cast by the national assembly for China's first constitutional vice-president.

The veteran director of the president's military headquarters in Peiping received 754 votes as the balloting began and will fight it out with the next two leading candidates for the vice-presidency tomorrow. A minimum of 1,523 votes out of 2,648 is required for election.

Sun Fo, present provisional vice-president and son of Sun Yat-sen, "father of the Chinese republic," received 559 votes and Gen. Cheng Chien, director of the president's headquarters in Wuhan received 522.

Harriman OK'd

WASHINGTON, April 23—The Senate foreign relations committee today unanimously approved the nomination of W. Averell Harriman, retiring secretary of commerce, as the Marshall Plan "roving ambassador."

Elizabeth, Duke Are Knighted

WINDSOR, Eng., April 23—Princess Elizabeth and her handsome husband, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, became knights of the Most Noble Order of the Garter today.

In the first formal garter installation held in 143 years, King George bestowed the high honor during elaborate ceremonies in banner-hung St. George's chapel of Windsor Castle.

The colorful ceremony marked the 600th anniversary of the order's foundation by King Edward III.

Army Readies Substitute For UMT Program

WASHINGTON, April 23—The Senate armed services committee encountered a delay today in its attempt to whip defense legislation into shape for congressional action.

The Army postponed until Monday its presentation of a substitute for Universal Military Training estimated to be less costly in dollars and manpower.

Sen. Gurney, (R) S. D., committee chairman, said the Army is to give his group an alternative plan whereby 18-year-olds would take six months full-time training in the regular armed forces and then shift to the reserves.

THE ADMINISTRATION'S UMT plan calls for one year of training. The trainee, however, would have the option of entering the National Guard or other reserve unit after six months of basic instruction.

Major difference in the two programs appears to be the saving in training facilities and training officers, since UMT would call for special training camps and personnel operating under a civilian commission.

Clouds Herald Rain's Approach

Broken clouds in the south and a complete overcast in the north heralded the approach of rain in Ohio today.

Weather bureau forecasters said that most of the rain probably would hold off until tomorrow when a series of showers is expected.

Temperatures were on the upgrade again after holding in the 60s over most of the state yesterday. It was to be warmer tomorrow and a little cooler by Sunday.

The weather bureau's five-day outlook for Ohio follows: "Temperatures will average about four degrees above normal for the period. Slightly cooler Sunday; warmer Monday, becoming cooler late Tuesday and Wednesday. Showers again about Tuesday, with the total rainfall about one-half inch."

Resistance Stiffens As War Rages

Mass Evacuation
On At Port City

JERUSALEM, April 23—Jewish militiamen seized several Arab villages outside Jerusalem today in the face of stiff Arab resistance.

The Haganah troops were said to have incurred losses in capturing the Arab strongholds of Beitksa and Shafat, and in a continuing assault of Nebisam-wil.

They launched their new offensive as Haganah fighters in Haifa consolidated their hold on the port city from which 60,000 Arabs are evacuating in a mass exodus.

The Palestine government said that 14 Jews were killed and 40 wounded in yesterday's capture of Haifa.

Highest level official sources refuted Arab suggestions that the Haifa attack was a "massacre."

These insisted the Haganah assault was the direct result of continuous Arab attacks on Jews in Haifa during the last four days.

ARABS IN THESE villages were said to have used them as bases for attacks on the adjacent Jewish settlements of Neve Yacov, Atharoth and others.

Jewish forces dominating most of Haifa are expected to enforce a new cease-fire order unless there is a last-minute hitch in a scheduled new meeting of Arabs and Jews to discuss Arab evacuation of the city.

One-third of the port's 70,000 Arab residents were understood to have left the city by midnight, half of them by sea.

Families leaving today will submit to search by the British to prevent their carrying hidden arms. The British are providing transport to aid the exodus.

British troops aided in collecting bodies of Arab dead as sporadic firing continued at points throughout the city.

The firing occurred as Jews sought to clean out the last nests of Arab resistance.

Top GOP Chiefs Seek To Slash Flood Measure

WASHINGTON, April 23—Three leading Republican senators promised today an all-out fight to chop $200 million from the $641 million bill for rivers, harbors and flood control work in fiscal 1949.

The senators—Bridges, (R) N. H., Reed, (R) Kas., and Ferguson, (R) Mich.—form a three-man economy bloc in the Senate appropriations committee, of which Bridges is chairman. They were on the short end of the 16 to 3 vote by which the committee approved the waterways spending in the Army civil functions bill Thursday.

Labeling the measure a violation of the congressional pledge for "curtailed government spending," the three senators announced that they plan to demand that the bill be sent back to committee to:

1. Pare not less than $200 million from it. This would bring the amount $98 million below the $539 million approved by the House.

2. Tell Army Engineers to allocate what's left according to urgency, long-range importance,

Lanman said he was hit in the eye by a nail he was pounding, the nail having glanced from the wood. His doctor has assured him that he will not lose the use of the eye but reportedly suggested Lanman get acquainted with a professional carpenter.

Assistant Attorney General H. Graham Morison stated that more than 85 percent of the 400,

Welly K. Hopkins, chief defense counsel, said he had no objection to the indefinite postponement of disposition of the civil contempt issue.

Goldsborough then said:

"The court thinks that the government's suggestion is eminently proper. The court, as a citizen, is more than happy to know that a normal situation is being established very rapidly in the mines."

Goldsborough Wednesday fined Lewis personally $20,000 and the union $1,400,000 for criminal contempt. The defense has served notice of appeal.

Reports from the field substantiated the government's estimate of current coal production. It was evident that the last of the miners, despite resentment over the heavy fines, are returning to the pits. Coal production was reported "nearly normal."

An injunction good for 80 days under provisions of the Taft-Hartley Law is in effect to prevent any further work stoppage in soft coal mining.

Today's session of court lasted only a few minutes. Morison opened the proceedings by announcing the return to work of the miners and said the government was prepared to call witnesses to establish this fact.

Resistance Stiffens As War Rages

Mass Evacuation On At Port City

JERUSALEM, April 23—Jewish militiamen seized several Arab villages outside Jerusalem today in the face of stiff Arab resistance.

The Haganah troops were said to have incurred losses in capturing the Arab strongholds of Beitksa and Shafat, and in a continuing assault of Nebissam-wil.

They launched their new offensive as Haganah fighters in Haifa consolidated their hold on the port city from which 60,000 Arabs are evacuating in a mass exodus.

The Palestine government said that 14 Jews were killed and 40 wounded in yesterday's capture of Haifa.

Highest level official sources refuted Arab suggestions that the Haifa attack was a "massacre."

These insisted the Haganah assault was the direct result of continuous Arab attacks on Jews in Haifa during the last four days.

ARABS IN THESE villages were said to have used them as bases for attacks on the adjacent Jewish settlements of Neve Yacov, Ataroth and others.

Jewish forces dominating most of Haifa are expected to enforce a new cease-fire order unless there is a last-minute hitch in a scheduled new meeting of Arabs and Jews to discuss Arab evacuation of the city.

One-third of the port's 70,000 Arab residents were understood to have left the city by midnight, half of them by sea.

Families leaving today will submit to search by the British to prevent their carrying hidden arms. The British are providing transport to aid the exodus.

British troops aided in collecting bodies of Arab dead as sporadic firing continued at points throughout the city.

The firing occurred as Jews sought to clean out the last nests of Arab resistance.

Top GOP Chiefs Seek To Slash Flood Measure

WASHINGTON, April 23—Three leading Republican senators promised today an all-out fight to chop $200 million from the $641 million bill for rivers, harbors and flood control work in fiscal 1949.

The senators — Bridges, (R) N. H., Reed, (R) Kas., and Ferguson, (R) Mich.—form a three-man economy bloc in the Senate appropriations committee, of which Bridges is chairman. They were on the short end of the 16 to 3 vote by which the committee approved the waterways spending in the Army civil functions bill Thursday.

Labeling the measure a violation of the congressional pledge for "curtailed government spending," the three senators announced that they plan to demand that the bill be sent back to committee to:

1. Pare not less than $200 million from it. This would bring the amount $98 million below the $539 million approved by the House.

2. Tell Army Engineers to allocate what's left according to urgency, long-range importance.

Grocer Squinting At World Friday

H. K. Lanman, manager of the Circleville Kroger market, was taking a one-eyed squint at the world Friday, his right eye covered by a patch following an accident at his South Court street home.

Lanman said he was hit in the eye by a nail he was pounding, the nail having glanced from the wood. His doctor has assured him that he will not lose the use of the eye but reportedly suggested Lanman get acquainted with a professional carpenter.

Kiernan's

ONE MAN'S OPINION

A new half dollar will be out soon and the Treasury says "there will be enough for everyone." This is the best news since the Townsend Plan.

In fact it will be the first time since the United States started manufacturing money that there ever was "enough for everyone."

Apparently the government has found that a half dollar here, a half dollar there has paid off in Europe and has decided to include us in its relief program.

This coin has Ben Franklin on one side representing "thrift." I understand there's a Treasury agent on the other side representing "what's the use, we get it anyway!"

But if the Treasury will just tell us now where to pick up the stuff we'll hire our own carts.

meanwhile searched for Arab boobytraps, many of which already have been dismantled.

Events at Haifa yesterday during which Haganah forces seized vital parts of the city in a swift drive which caught the Arabs by surprise caused considerable uneasiness among Arabs in the Jerusalem area.

Alarmed Arabs, suspecting that complete control of the Holy City might be the next aim of the Jews, kept up a steady barrage with mortars and rifles against Jewish quarters around Jerusalem.

bureaus which will keep tabs on any activities in their respective countries and to warn neighboring states where Communists are active or might be expected to campaign.

The action marked a historic step in continental solidarity and hemisphere defense. One surprising fact is that some countries where substantial Communist voting elements exist went along.

Chile, where 50,000 Communist votes controlled one election, led in drafting the resolution. Chile's attitude is explainable, however, by the fact that she suffered an attempted coup allegedly inspired by Yugoslav Communist agents.

Lausche Talks World Affairs

WADSWORTH, April 23—Former Gov. Frank J. Lausche believes international affairs is the most serious problem confronting Ohio voters.

In an address in Wadsworth, Medina County, last night, the Democratic gubernatorial aspirant declared:

"We must demonstrate to the people of America and to the people of the world that our concept of government has no equal, that an idea could be destroyed only with a better idea, not with a bullet or a bayonet."

"We must pursue with all our power an effort to reconcile our differences with Russia and do everything which honorably can be done to preserve world peace."

Detailed Damage Suit Is Delayed Until May 7

A cross petition suit for $10,499.83 in judgment and damages bogged down on its second day of hearing in Pickaway County common pleas court Thursday and was held over until May 7.

Stansbury-Stout Corp. is asking $3,499.83 for its share of a contract completed which included labor, materials, construction, alteration and improvements to a home owned by Miley Drummond of Muhlenberg Township.

In the firm's second cause of action, Judge Earl D. Parker of Waverly was asked to approve a lien that has been placed against the defendant's property in Derby and Muhlenberg Townships.

Stansbury-Stout Corp. is asking the court to award it the $3,499.83 or order a sale of the premises with the proceeds to be applied to payment of the debt.

DRUMMOND in return filed a cross petition asking $5,000 damages to his home from Stansbury-Stout Corp. and $2,000 damages from Boyds, Inc., for allegedly refusing to supply the type of water heater unit contracted for.

His petition claims Stansbury-Stout exceeded their estimates in repairing his house causing him to halt work. It further alleges the firm's workmen were doing a poor job on his house for which he had to spend more money to rectify.

$500,000 Due Ohio Hospital

ASHTABULA, April 23—Ashtabula General hospital is expected to receive at least a half million dollars as a gift from the estate of the late Marshall Orlando Terry.

Terry, who was a resident surgeon in Ashtabula early in his medical career and later became surgeon general of the United States, died at Coronado, Cal., in 1933. He retired with the rank of major general.

His second wife, Mrs. A. R. Merritt, died in 1947, and after her estate was settled, a residue of two million dollars was left in trust to be divided between Utica Memorial hospital in New York and Ashtabula General hospital.

New Refining Process Ready

CLEVELAND, April 23 — New oil refineries being built at Findlay and Lima will produce more and better gasoline from a given amount of crude oil.

Edwin F. Nelson, vice-president of the Universal Oil Products Co., in Chicago, said the refineries will have a new refining process, called fluid catalytic cracking, developed during the war by a number of large concerns.

Nelson said the "liquid recovery" of the new process runs to 98 percent and more compared with the 93 to 95 percent of older cracking methods.

New Food-Saving Plan Is Set Up By Ag Agency

WASHINGTON, April 23—The Agriculture department announced today a new voluntary food-saving plan for housewives, restaurants and retail food stores.

The program stresses the use of less expensive foods—especially cheaper cuts of meats—as a check on inflation and to make more food available for export.

Meatless Tuesdays have been rescinded, but consumers are asked to observe one meatless day a week of their own choice.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan, director of the program, said he has been assured by restaurants and retail food dealers that they will help to make conservation effective.

THE DEPARTMENT issued a booklet titled "Money-Saving Main Dishes" to suggest practical ways in which homemakers can cooperate in food conservation.

The first edition of the booklet contains 150 recipes for such dishes as kidney stew, soy meat loaf and brown beef stew.

A list of suggestions designed to conserve food and stabilize prices is going out to hotels, restaurants, railroad dining cars and other prepared food dispensers.

Retail food stores were asked to emphasize plentiful foods and to help distribute the department's new recipe book by handing them to customers.

The program re-emphasizes the value of home gardens and home food preservation.

Ross Countians Help Neighbor

CHILLICOTHE, April 23—Ross County farmers have their own "good neighbor" policy.

Carl Reisinger, of near Clarksburg, is still in bed as the result of an operation March 13. Despite near-perfect weather, his farm work had to wait.

But then his neighbors, 17 of them, brought their 14 tractors to his 55-acre farm and plowed it in about five hours.

overdue." But he said the industry still needs to step up production and find a better way to give smaller industries their share of steel.

O'Mahoney, advocate of anti-monopoly legislation said he thinks the reductions will fail to help the independent manufacturers. He said:

"I notice that they have not reduced the price of semi-finished steel—the steel by which the integrated companies will make it tough for the independents. The expansion has not been in primary production, but in the finishing processes."

Infant Getting Unique Operation

COLUMBUS, April 23—A final operation on 14-months-old Richard Allen Hansen today will leave the boy without a bladder.

Richard was born with his bladder outside his body and lived that way for seven months. It became necessary to operate when infection spread over the exposed organ. The baby was taken to the operating room with one chance in a thousand of surviving surgery.

He won against those odds after doctors detached the tubes to his bladder and grafted them to the bowel.

Today the doctors will cut off the useless bladder, leaving Richard a wonder to medical science. The youngster is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hansen of Bucyrus.

Morison told the court "the government is quite happy" about the return to work since reestablishment of the status quo in the mines was the objective of the government's long legal battle with Lewis and the UMW.

The civil contempt conviction can be brought up again at any future date on a move by either party to the case or on the court's own motion.

Morison was asked about the possibility of future court action. He said:

"If another strike occurs or anybody gets out of line we can call them in again for civil and criminal contempt."

Morison was then asked what would happen if a new strike occurs over some issue other than the pension dispute involved in the current proceedings. He said:

"That wouldn't make any difference. The issue of the national safety still would be involved."

In the firm's second cause of action, Judge Earl D. Parker of Waverly was asked to approve a lien that has been placed against the defendant's property in Derby and Muhlenberg Townships. Stansbury-Stout Corp. is asking the court to award it the $3,499.83 or order a sale of the premises with the proceeds to be applied to payment of the debt.

DRUMMOND in return filed a cross petition asking $5,000 damages to his home from Stansbury-Stout Corp. and $2,000 damages from Boyds, Inc., for allegedly refusing to supply the type of water heater unit contracted for.

His petition claims Stansbury-Stout exceeded their estimates in repairing his house causing him to halt work. It further alleges the firm's workmen were doing a poor job on his house for which he had to spend more money to rectify.

ASHTABULA, April 23—Ashtabula General hospital is expected to receive at least a half million dollars as a gift from the estate of the late Marshall Orlando Terry.

His second wife, Mrs. A. R. Merritt, died in 1947, and after her estate was settled, a residue of two million dollars was left in trust to be divided between Utica Memorial hospital in New York and Ashtabula General hospital.

New Refining Process Ready

CLEVELAND, April 23—New oil refineries being built at Findlay and Lima will produce more and better gasoline from a given amount of crude oil.

Edwin F. Nelson, vice-president of the Universal Oil Products Co., in Chicago, said the refineries will have a new refining process, called fluid catalytic cracking, developed during the war by a number of large concerns.

Nelson said the "liquid recovery" of the new process runs to 98 percent and more compared with the 93 to 95 percent of older cracking methods.

New Food-Saving Plan Is Set Up By Ag Agency

WASHINGTON, April 23—The Agriculture department announced today a new voluntary food-saving plan for housewives, restaurants and retail food stores.

The program stresses the use of less expensive foods—especially cheaper cuts of meats—as a check on inflation and to make more food available for export.

Meatless Tuesdays have been rescinded, but consumers are asked to observe one meatless day a week of their own choice.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan, director of the program, said he has been assured by restaurants and retail food dealers that they will help to make conservation effective.

THE DEPARTMENT issued a booklet titled "Money-Saving Main Dishes" to suggest practical ways in which homemakers can cooperate in food conservation.

The first edition of the booklet contains 150 recipes for such dishes as kidney stew, soy meat loaf and brown beef stew.

A list of suggestions designed to conserve food and stabilize prices is going out to hotels, restaurants, railroad dining cars and other prepared food dispensers.

Retail food stores were asked to emphasize plentiful foods and to help distribute the department's new recipe book by handing them to customers.

The program re-emphasizes the value of home gardens and home food preservation.

But then his neighbors, 17 of them, brought their 14 tractors to his 55-acre farm and plowed it in about five hours.

overdue." But he said the industry still needs to step up production and find a better way to give smaller industries their share of steel.

O'Mahoney, advocate of anti-monopoly legislation said he thinks the reductions will fail to help the independent manufacturers. He said:

"I notice that they have not reduced the price of semi-finished steel—the steel by which the integrated companies will make it tough for the independents. The expansion has not been in primary production, but in the finishing processes."

Infant Getting Unique Operation

COLUMBUS, April 23—A final operation on 14-month-old Richard Allen Hansen today will leave the boy without a bladder.

Richard was born with his bladder outside his body and lived that way for seven months. It became necessary to operate when infection spread over the exposed organ. The baby was taken to the operating room with one chance in a thousand of surviving surgery.

He won against those odds after doctors detached the tubes to his bladder and grafted them to the bowel.

Today the doctors will cut off the useless bladder, leaving Richard a wonder to medical science. The youngster is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hansen of Bucyrus.

Jurist Stays Lewis Move

However, the defense agreed to a simple stipulation of the resumption of mining operations.

Morison told the court "the government is quite happy" about the return to work since reestablishment of the status quo in the mines was the objective of the government's long legal battle with Lewis and the UMW.

The civil contempt conviction can be brought up again at any future date on a move by either party to the case or on the court's own motion.

Morison was asked about the possibility of future court action. He said:

"If another strike occurs or anybody gets out of line we can call them in again for civil and criminal contempt."

Morison was then asked what would happen if a new strike occurs over some issue other than the pension dispute involved in the current proceedings. He said:

"That wouldn't make any difference. The issue of the national safety still would be involved."

The experiment, first of its kind ever to be inaugurated by an inter-state group, will be under the auspices of the West Virginia department of agriculture.

State veterinarians of Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia will direct the experiments to take place at Victor Farms in Jefferson County. IN ADDITION, he underwrote the project in the amount of $20,000 for the purchase of livestock and other necessities required in the experiment.

The vaccine to be used in the experiment has been developed by Dr. I. Forest Huddleson, research professor in bacteriology at Michigan state college. Brucella germs are the cause of Bang's disease in cattle and of undulant fever of human beings.

Sixty-five head of heifers, eight to 10 months old, are being selected from brucellosis-free herds for the experiment scheduled to begin on or about June 1, Dr. Green announced.

Sales Tax Take Still Climbing

For the week ending April 10, Pickaway County sales tax remained high at $4,429, a marked increase over the same period last year when the report showed a volume of $3,595.18, State Treasurer Don H. Ebricht reports.

Collections to date this year have spurred beyond last year's sales volume. The weekly report shows $52,610.19 in 1948, and $44,284.53 for the previous year. Ebricht's report shows a balance in the state treasury at the close of April 16 of $266,970.684.09. Expenditures for that period amounted to $15,147,745.35, the treasurer disclosed.

Study In Mud Facing Manager Of River Town

CINCINNATI, April 23—Water, water everywhere but now there's naught save mud.

That's kicking some very nice poetry around but it reflects the sentiments of a certain city manager.

The gentleman in question is Oscar Hesch, top executive in the city government of Newport, Ky.

Everybody in Newport turned a hand when flood waters threatened. They did a good job of putting up a levy and keeping it there.

However, the U. S. engineers figure 16,000,000 gallons of water poured through three unplugged drainage outlets and ended up at the other end of various basement drains and storm sewers.

The result—a 34,000,000 pound study in mud for one city manager.

And that's not even mentioning the 12,000,000 pounds of sand bags still neatly piled across one end of town.

Gambling Status Said 'Shocking'

CLEVELAND, April 23—Cleveland citizens were warned today of "shocking news when the whole truth comes out" in the police department investigation.

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Merrick told a nearby Chagrin Falls Kiwanis Club audience last night that "pay dirt" has been struck but that it might be difficult to prove it to a jury.

Judge Merrick said that strongly imbedded political machines lead to graft and corruption and that, therefore, frequent political turnover is good for the welfare of a city.

He charged that protection is paid to sheriffs and prosecutors wherever gambling is flourishing in Ohio. Judge Merrick pointed to Cleveland as an outstanding example of how an honest sheriff and prosecutor could prevent such gambling.

Sales Tax Take Still Climbing

For the week ending April 10, Pickaway County sales tax remained high at $4,429, a marked increase over the same period last year when the report showed a volume of $3,595.18, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright reports.

Collections to date this year have spurred beyond last year's sales volume. The weekly report shows $52,610.19 in 1948, and $44,284.53 for the previous year.

Ebright's report shows a balance in the state treasury at the close of April 16 of $266,970,684.09. Expenditures for that period amounted to $15,147,745.35, the treasurer disclosed.

Study In Mud Facing Manager Of River Town

CINCINNATI, April 23—Water, water everywhere but now there's naught save mud.

That's kicking some very nice poetry around but it reflects the sentiments of a certain city manager.

The gentleman in question is Oscar Hesch, top executive in the city government of Newport, Ky.

Everybody in Newport turned a hand when flood waters threatened. They did a good job of putting up a levy and keeping it there.

However, the U. S. engineers figure 16,000,000 gallons of water poured through three unplugged drainage outlets and ended up at the other end of various basement drains and storm sewers.

The result—a 34,000,000 pound study in mud for one city manager.

And that's not even mentioning the 12,000,000 pounds of sand bags still neatly piled across one end of town.

Otterbein Brass Ensemble Heard

The brass choir from Otterbein college presented a musical program to students at Circleville high school Thursday in the high school auditorium.

The program, which consisted of spiritual and "heavy" numbers, was highlighted by a baritone solo by Clifford Kerns, former Circleville high school student now enrolled in the college.

Another Trial Seen For Driver

COLUMBUS, April 23—There were prospects of a new trial today for Glen W. Cheatwood Jr., 22, convicted of second degree manslaughter in the deaths of three persons.

Cheatwood drove the car that crashed into a Groveport pike bridge near Columbus last Nov. 7 killing Lillian Held, and her sister, Lenore, 20, and Pearl Clutter.

Sentence on the manslaughter charge was deferred pending a ruling on his attorneys' request for a new trial.

Rent Hike Denied Franklin Owners

COLUMBUS, April 23—There will be no rent increase for Franklin County roomers and boarders—at least for a while.

The rent advisory board denied a decontrol petition presented last night by Ohio State Apartment and Rooming House Association because of lack of sufficient evidence.

Gambling Status Said 'Shocking'

CLEVELAND, April 23—Cleveland citizens were warned today of "shocking news when the whole truth comes out" in the police department investigation.

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Merrick told a nearby Chagrin Falls Kiwanis Club audience last night that "pay dirt" has been struck but that it might be difficult to prove it to a jury.

Judge Merrick said that strongly imbedded political machines lead to graft and corruption and that, therefore, frequent political turnover is good for the welfare of a city.

He charged that protection is paid to sheriffs and prosecutors wherever gambling is flourishing in Ohio. Judge Merrick pointed to Cleveland as an outstanding example of how an honest sheriff and prosecutor could prevent such gambling.

THE NEAREST DOCTOR

COMMENTING on scarcity of doctors in some parts of Minnesota and the Dakotas, the Minneapolis Tribune reports that in about a ninth of the counties in the United States there is either no doctor at all or a load of 3,000 or more persons for each doctor. The American Medical Association holds that one doctor can effectively take care of an area of practice embracing no more than 1,500 persons.

No section of the country is free from areas where medical facilities are dangerously inadequate. In some spots, such as the town of Timber Lake, S. D., mentioned in the Tribune article, a community of several hundred persons may be forty miles from the nearest doctor or hospital.

What is to be done about it? When efforts fail to induce some young doctor to hang out his shingle in such a community, there seems little to do except to keep trying to find one. If the nation had a system of socialized medicine, perhaps it would provide for the arbitrary assignment of doctors to such areas, but this would be an obviously unhappy solution.

For the long term future, the community without a doctor might do well to find some promising and community-loyal youth in its own younger set, and send him to medical school, hoping he may return one day to become the community physician.

Making life attractive to the young physician and his family by paying his bills promptly would help a good deal, too. Doctors and their families have to eat and buy clothes and other things. Some people are apt to forget this.

GUARDING SANITY

SOME American educational institutions are studying a new psychiatric instrument, of European origin, designed for the detection and analysis of abnormal personalities. It was devised by Dr. Leopold Szondi, a Hungarian.

There is a hope that the instrument might enable a doctor to detect incipient mental illness in a person showing no outward symptoms of abnormal mental condition. By this means it might be possible to learn, earlier than now is generally possible, when an individual is heading for an emotional crisis, such as might lead to mental breakdown, suicide or violence against others.

Much of the suffering and unhappiness endured by mankind is caused by mental illness, a great deal of which is not recognized until too late to do anything about it. Any medical or psychiatric advance which will help individuals and their companions to recognize abnormal or sick minds will contribute to a happier world.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Many of the changes that have come to the United States since we came into the Twentieth Century are due to causes other than politics. For instance, the steady movement off the farm is not the least of them.

Much of what might be called the American way of life was a farmer's way of life. The emphasis on the family, the general political, economic and social conservatism of our people was characteristic of those who owned their own land, their own homes, their own lives. The farmer, if poor, was never driven; he never developed a slave psychology. He was never afraid. He might be mortgaged but seldom feared the monthly bill collector.

Before 1870, more than half of the American people were farmers; since then the agricultural population has been reduced to less than one-fifth. That reduction has continued since 1929, when 24.9 percent of our people were farmers; in 1947, the farmer amounted to only 19.3 percent.

Of course, it does not result in many persons to produce farm products today as it used to, because of the mechanization of agricultural processes. If the chores can be done by a machine, sons and daughters step off the farms for work and life in the mills and factories and stores in the cities. From the standpoint of economics, the movement off the farm may benefit the individual because his cash income is increased, his material standard of living is appreciably raised, and the social advantages for his children may be improved.

However, city folks think differently from country folks. Few American farmers can possibly believe, as so many New Yorkers do, for instance, that the United States of America is a punk country and ought to be pushed aside for some European conqueror. Love of the soil is more readily translated into love of country than is possible for those who pound sidewalks and live in an atmosphere of neon signs and the excitements of restaurants and saloons. Families that feed themselves, where mamma cooks and the boys bring in the firewood, are closer to wholesome ideas than folks who live in the suburbs and eat in coffee shops and corner drug stores. It is the way of life that is much more important than the economics of the situation.

And that is something that we shall have to think about as our cities grow larger and the mind lives under the constant tattoo of city noises, of auto horns and radios and the constant motion of vehicles. The American family is being scattered and therefore ceases to exist, when there is no longer a central homestead and brothers live a continent apart and cousins do not know each other at all. It is a very different America we are molding when the family name, related to a geographical area, has lost all meaning.

The farmer and his wife are constantly close to each other and to their children during the entire day. They live in a partnership and have to practice mutual aid to survive. But that is not generally a characteristic of city life. Everybody rushes off after breakfast and return tired from work or even school toward evening. Absence makes them strangers. It's like the little boy who wondered who that strange man was about the house. It was, of course, only his father. How would the little boy know?

Three Loves are Mine

SYNOPSIS

Anne Forester had become engaged to Lieutenant Commander Alec Dorems following a whirlwind courtship in Hawaii over a year ago. Recently he had cabled her from the Far East to be ready to marry him soon at Stone House, his family's estate in Jersey. Julia, his mother, was overjoyed when Anne accepted her invitation to stay with them. Her departure from New York was a blow to cynical Donald Orden, who had long been in love with her. Stone House had been in the Dorems family for generations and the beauty of its acres of model farmlands thrilled Anne as John, Alec's serious-minded older brother, explained all it meant to him. Besides John, his wife, Helen and Judy, their small daughter, the household consisted of Alec's parents, Julia and Henry Dorems; Henry's mother, "Gram" Dorems; and Julia's mother, Madame Kingsley. It was soon evident to Anne that Helen's only interest was her business career in a New York publishing house, and sympathy for John's surging through her at the realization his marriage was not a happy one. As the weeks passed a bond of understanding based on their mutual love of Stone House formed between them.

CHAPTER NINE

ANNE and John were standing on a hillside with the fields stretched out below. Steam was rising from the earth now and a great black crow flung itself awkwardly upward in the distance and flapped its way aloft. John's eyes saw that, and the misty land, the glistening ponds, the dark, rich woods and the blue sky brooding above it all, and he went on.

"I count my dividends partially among the intangibles. My freedom, for instance, is invaluable to me. I'm my own boss. I belong to no union. No man can tell me what to do or not to do. Then there's the feeling of security that I've already spoken of." He swept out an arm. "I have everything here. Everything! Fish, meat, fowl, vegetables, fruit, milk and honey. I have my own water supply from inexhaustible springs. I make my own electrical current. Let labor do what it likes! Let it tie up transportation, communication—everything. I'm independent. I'll use horses if the shipment of gasoline is stopped. I don't need fuel oil. My woods will keep me warm." He turned toward her and she saw the flame burning again in his eyes. All the people for whom I feel myself responsible need never know want or worry here. It's good to be sure of that. But it's still better to know you own your own soul."

"Yes," she waited, feeling he would say more. It was in his face, a pent-up passion.

"And then, of course," he went on, after a moment, "there's the beauty of the place. That means a great deal to me, too. I love each season so much that I think each one is the best. And there's also the thing you spoke of when you first saw Stone House. The sense of permanence. What I create here, what I plant and nurse and cherish, will live for generations. Perhaps"—he paused—"perhaps it's the only immortality God intends for man. I don't know."

"Yes," she said again. But he seemed to have forgotten her. He seemed to be talking to himself now.

"Finally—and this is probably the most important thing—here we have a way of life that is simple and wholesome and—kind. None of us, I mean, has to step on the neck of anyone else to get ahead. We're not in competition. We're in harmony. All of us working for the good of all, without envy and without strife. The goal isn't money. It's just—good living. And that's Christian." He checked himself and looked down at her. "I didn't mean to preach a sermon," he said. "What you really wanted to know was whether this is paying me financially."

"I wanted the whole picture. Just as you're giving it to me," she told him quickly.

He looked away again. "This is the rest, then. It isn't paying me yet. I had to borrow from the bank to get started. The war held me up, too. It was impossible to get ahead as fast as I planned. But I'm breaking even. I've found other sources of income that I hadn't expected to find—lecturing—writing, and in another year or so I should see profits." His eyes came back to her. "When I do, the men in my employ will share in the profits, each according to his worth," he finished quietly.

There it was. All of it. Much more than a way of living. Much more than a dream. A reality. A high adventure.

They had been late getting back to the house. They went in through the kitchen where Anne glimpsed warm red bricks, shining copper, and flames leaping in the wide Dutch fireplace. There were two small low rockers before the fire, and a round table with a red and white checked cloth in a corner, and geraniums on the broad window sill beneath red and white checked gingham curtains. It was a wonderful kitchen, really, she thought, combining in its spaciousness the comfortable and homey old with the clean and efficient new.

Breakfast was over by the time they sat down and Helen had long since departed for New York. Madame Kingsley had her breakfast, like her supper, in her room. But Julia was there supervising Judy's meal, and Gram (protesting that she must get to work on the canning of those last tomatoes—and where had that Annabel disappeared to? My heavens! What a girl!) joined them for a few minutes. Henry, she told John, wanted to go out with him when Tom started plowing that field they'd been talking about last night. And if Julia was going to town for the mail, would she get some sugar?

"If it weren't for sugar and spices and salt and tea and coffee," John said to Anne, continuing his conversation, "we wouldn't have to buy a thing."

"Is he educating you?" Julia asked smilingly.

Anne nodded.

"Her heart is already educated," John said, and Julia's quick look went from him to Anne and back again to her son.

Hot cereal rich with thick cream. And hot corn muffins. And bacon and eggs and fragrant coffee. Anne had been hungry, the sunlit dining room warm, the atmosphere, with bustling Gram and prattling Judy and serene Julia, congenial. She had looked at John's quiet face and the light in his gray eyes and she had thought that this was a happy household in spite of Madame Kingsley and Henry, in spite, even, of Helen, who was, in actuality, only a ripple on the surface. Anyway, Anne was glad to be a part of it. She could hardly wait for Alec to get home so they, too, could fit into their places in the scheme of things.

But Alec hadn't come. He had written that there might be a delay. And then he had cabled again, saying definitely that there would be. His ship was being sent back into the Pacific. The Philippines, he thought, although he wasn't sure. He didn't know when he would return now but he hoped it would be before Christmas.

That, of course, had made Anne face decisions. Should she go back to her job and her apartment? Or give both up? Alec was clear to her by this time. With all the pictures of him around the house he had emerged from the shadows and stood in her mind again as she had wanted him to stand: someone vitally alive whom she loved. She had a big silver-framed photograph of him on her desk at this moment—Julia had given it to her—and glancing at it, she could almost feel him in the room with her. All she had needed was to come to where he lived for the tingling happiness he had stirred in her to flow through her again.

No Excise Tax Cut Seen for This Year
Career Man May Be Agriculture's Chief

Special to Central Press
WASHINGTON—GOP leaders in Congress have now definitely abandoned any plans for a reduction in excise taxes this year. Full wartime levies on transportation, communications, cosmetics, luggage, handbags and other articles will continue for an indefinite period.

Earlier, leaders had planned at least some excise cuts—particularly on transportation and communications. But President Truman's added three billion dollar defense budget and other expenditure estimates have caused Republican bigwigs to conclude the overall budget can't stand further tax reductions now.

There may be a second tax bill. If so, it will be confined to technical changes intended to remove individual inequities, and will not result in any appreciable loss of revenue. Any restoration of the tax cut just enacted will come only if the European situation grows much worse. And it would not apply to 1948 income.

● ANDERSON'S SUCCESSOR—A lot of administration "insiders" are willing to bet that Mr. Truman's choice of a successor to Agriculture Secretary Clinton P. Anderson will be an agriculture department "career" man—like Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson, a postal service veteran.

Right now, the three department men most prominently mentioned for the post are: Undersecretary of Agriculture Norris Dodd, Production-Marketing Chief Jesse Gilmer and Assistant Secretary Charles Brannan. Each has had long service in the department and presumably could step into Anderson's shoes when the latter relinquishes his post at the adjournment of Congress.

Brannan probably has been in the news more than Dodd or Gilmer. In fact, Brannan has acquired a special public relations aide and has acted as spokesman for the administration on such a controversial issue as restoration of meat rationing.

Dodd, second top man in agriculture now, is known as a specialist on foreign agriculture. He figured prominently in drawing up some of the foreign aid plans. Gilmer, as PMA head, is in the key spot of the working branch of the department.

● NO THIRD TERM—House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr. (R), Massachusetts, predicts that the proposed constitutional amendment restricting a president to two terms in office will become law. Martin, who sponsored a similar amendment in 1945, is not discouraged by the slow progress on ratification. So far 20 states have approved it. Thirty-six are required to make the amendment effective.

"It certainly will be enacted if the people have their say about it. They are for it. They don't think that any one man is indispensable," says Martin.

The proposed amendment was approved by Congress on March 24, 1947. It must be ratified by March 24, 1954.

● ANOTHER PROBE—Look for fireworks if the Ferguson investigating subcommittee of the Senate starts an inquiry into national defense, as it may be asked to do.

The unit is headed by Senator Homer Ferguson (R), Michigan, veteran of many a Senate inquiry, including the marathon Pearl Harbor investigation. It was Ferguson, with the same staff his subcommittee now has, who uncovered the wartime activities of retired Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers.

Senator George D. Aiken (R), Vermont, chairman of the full committee on executive expenditures, indicated he may ask his Ferguson subcommittee to start a defense probe. There is plenty of support on both sides of the aisle for an overall look at how defense funds are being spent.

● RECKLESS RUSSIANS—Veteran pilots who had any contact with Russian flyers during the war were not surprised at the tragic incident over Berlin, in which a Soviet fighter plane collided with a British transport and sent its 14 occupants to their deaths.

Basically, they point out, the average Russian pilot is not mechanically minded and has little consideration for the machine he flies. And he shares the fatalistic outlook of many Russians.

Americans who indoctrinated Russian flyers on American planes during World War II were aghast at the crazy chances the Russian pilots took.

A classic story, which happens to be true, concerns the Soviet squadron commander who on his check-out flight in a Martin Marauder flew so low and so fast over a populous area that the American pilot finally frantically waved him to a higher altitude.

"Ho," roared the Russian, "wot's matter? You 'fraid to die?"

Ohio Uses 2 Million Tons Lime

Pickaway Farms Lower Than Par

Ohio farmers applied 2,086,369 tons of limestone in 1947 to help crop production on their farms. Earl Jones, extension agronomist, Ohio State university, says the effect of the limestone is most apparent in helping to grow crops of alfalfa and clover but the soil building material improves yields of almost every crop grown on Ohio farms.

The total tonnage applied probably was used on less than 1,000,000 acres of land because a lot of Ohio crop land needs more than two tons of limestone per acre to get it in condition to grow legumes. Jones estimates that about 75 percent of all Ohio farm land will produce better crops if limestone is applied.

The 1947 tonnage of lime used was almost twice as great as the amount applied in Ohio in 1941 but was about the same as the 1946 total. The counties in which sales exceeded 50,000 tons in 1947 are Clermont, Henry, Holmes, Medina, Stark, Wayne, and Wyandot. Northwestern Ohio farm lands generally are better supplied with calcium than land in other farming sections of the state.

LESS THAN 10,000 tons of lime were sold last year in Pickaway County, probably because the soils are naturally rich in calcium.

Most of the limestone used in Ohio is placed on cropland, but Jones says an excellent profit can be made by putting limestone on pasture fields. He estimates that each dollar spent by a farmer for lime will be paid back along with from one to five dollars of profit. Soils respond better to fertilizer if they have been given a preceding application of limestone.

Coaltown Shows Citation May Be Nicked In Derby

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 23—Citation and Coaltown, the greatest one-two potential in Kentucky Derby history, loomed mightier than ever today behind vivid confirmation that Coaltown can go a route.

Guided by Norm Pierson, subsequently named as his Derby jockey, the undefeated Calumet Farm speedster smashed the Keeneland track record yesterday in winning the $15,000 added Blue Grass Stakes at a mile and one eighth.

Coaltown won by four lengths over Walmac Farm's Billings and four other Derby eligibles in the time of 1:49.1, a fifth of a second better than the course mark set by Tunicia in 1938.

Pierson took the fleet Coaltown out strong at the start and came home alone with the field of Billings, Syd Guy, Eagle Look, Dole and Syndicate following under the wire in that order.

The big boys among the nation's bookmakers, in unprecendented fear and trembling, today were refusing all show bets on either Citation or Coaltown for next Saturday's Derby.

DELAWARE, April 23—Placing in every event and winning seven firsts, Ohio Wesleyan's strong track team scored 75 1/2 points yesterday to win a triangular meet from Heidelberg and Otterbein.

Lions Hand Locals 9-1 Loop Loss

Tigers Limited To Single Bingle

The Circleville Tiger baseball team lost its first South Central Ohio league game, and its third game in four starts, Thursday afternoon when the Washington Blue Lions roared to a 9 to 1 win over the Red and Black.

Behind the one-hit pitching of Don Denton, the Lions nipped George Morris for nine hits in the game, and copped one hit off Bob Shaw.

Circleville's lone run, scored in the third frame, was unearned, John Valentine reaching first on an error by Washington's second sacker, stealing a base, and scoring on a long fly.

The game was scoreless in the first inning, neither team able to get the range of the other pitcher, but the Lions started the scoring in the second inning with one run, piling on six more in the third and fourth and finishing their scoring in the fifth with a brace of runs.

Next Circleville ball game is to be held at Wilmington Monday, the second SCO league game for the Tigers this season.

Tag Sale Booked To Help Cancer Group Reach Quota

A tag sale to help the Pickaway County chapter of the American Cancer Society to raise its quota of $2,000 will be staged in Circleville Saturday by students in the fourth through seventh grades.

Clarence Rushing, Circleville Route 1, chairman of the local chapter, said merchants had donated prizes which will be given to the best salesmen among the students.

The youngsters are to meet in Memorial Hall at 9 a. m. Saturday where they will be given tags and instructions. The youths' sales campaign will run until 6 p. m. After that hour, an adult crew will continue with the tag sale but will not be eligible for any prize.

Rushing said that either George Crites or Robert Swift will pilot an airplane Saturday to bombard the city with pamphlets urging cooperation in the campaign to rid the nation of the dread disease.

RUSHING CITED that health department statistics show that in Pickaway County alone 34 persons died of cancer during 1947.

During 1946, a total of 37 deaths were charged to the dread disease.

"The American public has shown its determination to conquer cancer in the magnificent support given the Society last year," he asserted. "Our scientists have responded with a mass assault against cancer, which should give every person encouragement. The clues to cancer's cause, cure and prevention developed during the last year, the increased facilities for cancer detection, diagnosis and treatment and the new and enlightened attitude toward cancer that has come about as a re-

MacFadden Wife Opposes Rite

MIAMI, April 23—Bernard MacFadden's second wife has challenged his legal right to marry again, as the 80-year-old physical culturist plans to do today.

The woman he divorced in 1946, Mrs. Mary Williamson MacFadden, wired County Judge W. F. Blanton in Miami questioning the county's right to issue a license. She is now living in Englewood, N. J.

She charged that the divorce the millionaire hotel owner and exponent of vegetarianism obtained from her in 1946 "is debatable as to its legality."

MacFadden, currently campaigning for Florida's Democratic gubernatorial nomination, is scheduled to marry 42-year-old Mrs. Jonnie Lee, of New York, at Miami Beach.

sult of public education are matters which command the attention of every person.

"Credit for these achievements go to the American people themselves—the millions who contributed dimes and dollars to the American Cancer Society's campaign last year.

"I think that an analysis of the figures for the last eight years will show there is a direct relationship between the financing of cancer control and the results that have been achieved. Unfortunately, we cannot buy a cancer cure—it would be cheap at any price—but we can finance research and all the other activities which already have saved some lives and some day may destroy cancer as a major threat to the health and happiness of every person.

"Since 1940, the American Cancer Society has raised $28½ million for its program of research, education and service to the cancer patient. During the last three campaigns 92.47 per cent of that eight-year total has been raised. Last year alone the sum exceeded $12 million.

"THIS KIND of support enabled us to command the services of scientists and lay men capable of waging a first-class war against cancer—men of vision, men of experience, men of devotion fired by the idea that at long last effective weapons could be forged and used against a disease that has defied science since the dawn of history.

7 Steps Given To Aid Vets Filing Claims

Veterans who file claims with Veterans Administration for disability compensation or pension can help speed up service by observing seven simple rules, James P. Shea, Pickaway County veterans service office, said Friday.

They are:

(1) Remember to submit complete evidence concerning your physical condition, and the cause of such condition; (2) spell your name clearly—the same way it appears on your service records; (3) when you are informed of your "C" number, use it in all correspondence with VA; (4) include your correct address in all correspondence.

(5) Avoid all unnecessary correspondence; (6) if you find it necessary to write, address your letters to the VA regional office serving the area in which you reside; (7) when requested to report for physical examination, or to submit additional evidence, do so promptly. If you cannot, let VA know.

BURBANK, Calif., April 23—Lon Chaney Jr., burly screen actor and son of the late master of film makeup, was reported near death today in St. Joseph's hospital after swallowing an overdose of sedatives.
